

John Deere M value - Tractor Talk Forum

View previous topic :: View next topic Author Message TractorTucker Long Time User

Joined: 29 May 2006 Posts: 905

Report to Moderator

▢ Posted: Sun Jan 17, 2021 5:27 pm Post subject: John Deere M value reply quote I know someone that is looking to sell his grandfather's John Deere M tractor. The tractor appears to be a half finished restoration (or at least repaint) neither of us have any idea what kind of work has been done to it or if the engine is even free. The sheetmetal is off of it and I do not know if it is complete. The tires appear to have decent tread but have been flat for several years. The tractor is curre▢

▢ Posted: Mon Jan 18, 2021 6:44 am Post subject: Re: John Deere M value reply quote X2. Other than listening to it run, it's useless.

Back to top

profile

tomtractorsandtoys Tractor Guru

Joined: 30 Nov 2010 Posts: 5645

Report to Moderator

▢ Posted: Mon Jan 18, 2021 6:45 am Post subject: Re: John Deere M value reply quote Gene your comment makes me think about the book Plow Peddler written by an Allis salesman. They had a customer trade in a brand new Deere M on an Allis B. They put it in the showroom beside a new Allis and put a step ladder beside it. Sure sold lots of little orange tractors and was the best advertising they ever did. They did finally sell it to a die hard Deere fellow. Tom (a John Deere owner who does not want a M). Back to top

profile

James Howell Tractor Guru

Joined: 06 Mar 2006 Posts: 15450 Location: Omaha, TX

Report to Moderator

▢ Posted: Mon Jan 18, 2021 6:58 am Post subject: Re: John Deere M value reply quote Back to top

profile

James Howell Tractor Guru

Joined: 06 Mar 2006 Posts: 15450 Location: Omaha, TX

Report to Moderator

▢ Posted: Mon Jan 18, 2021 6:58 am Post subject: Re: John Deere M value reply quote Agree. Back to top

profile

jaoneill Long Time User

Joined: 22 Apr 2010 Posts: 576

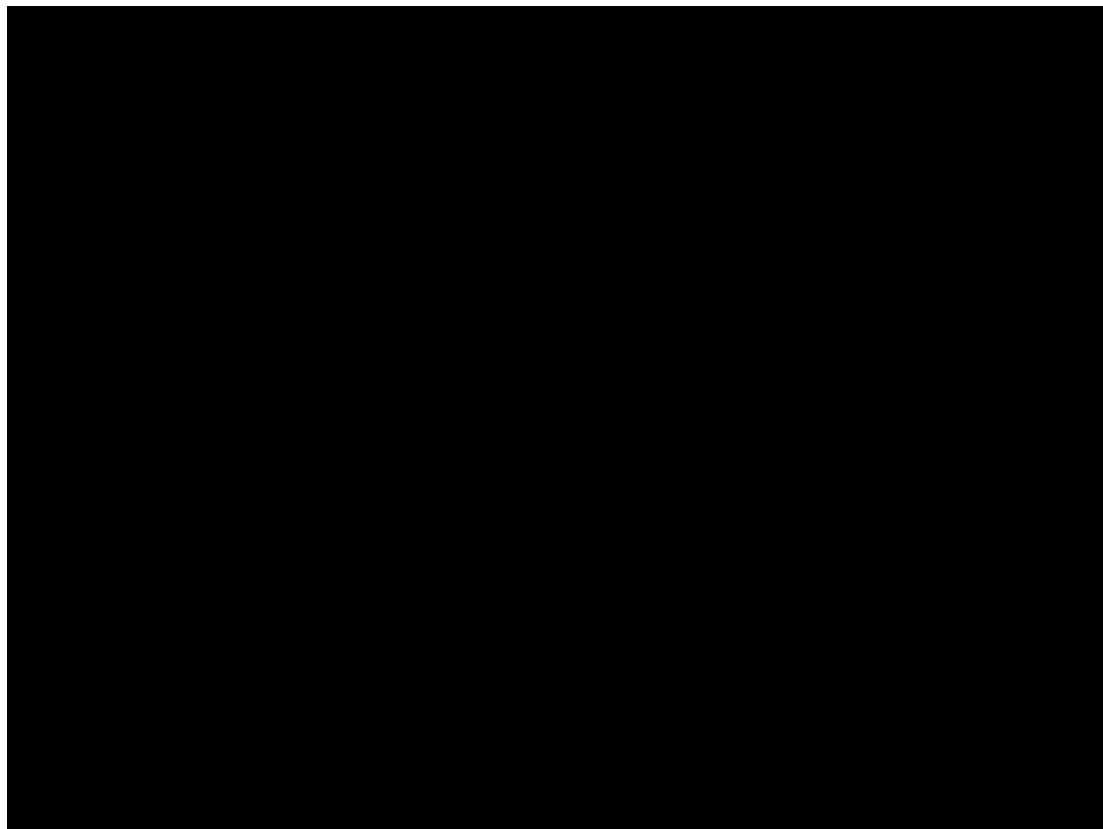

Report to Moderator

▢ Posted: Mon Jan 18, 2021 7:00 am Post subject: Re: John Deere M value reply quote CVPPost-TractorTucker wrote: (quoted from post at 22:27:29 01/17/21) I know someone that is looking to sell his grandfather's John Deere M tractor. The tractor appears to be a half finished restoration (or at least repaint) neither of us have any idea what kind of work has been done to it or if the engine is even free. The sheetmetal is off of it and I do not know if it is complete. The tires appear to have decent tread but have been flat for several years. The tractor is currently buried in a shed. What might be a fair price for it? I do not believe that it has any implements.

I bought mine 10 years ago, rust red, set up tight, but with half decent rear tires, for $300 sight unseen. $1,500 later I had a decent running little "yard tractor"; a bear to get on and off, but handy enough in the deep woods, on the old grain drill, or raking hay. I've used it a fair amount, it doesn't owe me anything, I like to hear it pop, pop, but had I bought it as an "investment", or in hopes of making a dollar on it, I surely would have been sorely disappointed.

James HowellTractor Guru

Joined: 06 Mar 2006Posts: 15450Location: Omaha, TX

Report to Moderator

▢ Posted: Mon Jan 18, 2021 7:09 am Post subject: Re: John Deere M value   "a handy yard tractor" Back to top

James HowellTractor Guru

Joined: 06 Mar 2006Posts: 15450Location: Omaha, TX

Report to Moderator

▢ Posted: Mon Jan 18, 2021 7:16 am Post subject: Re: John Deere M value   "So for you to buy it and fix it up its kinda up to you" Back to top

James HowellTractor Guru

Joined: 06 Mar 2006Posts: 15450Location: Omaha, TX

Report to Moderator

▢ Posted: Mon Jan 18, 2021 7:17 am Post subject: Re: John Deere M value   Nice looking little tractor. Back to top

RLATractor Expert

Joined: 31 Jan 2002Posts: 2410

Report to Moderator

▢ Posted: Mon Jan 18, 2021 7:46 am Post subject: Re: John Deere M value   I picked up a M, motor was stuck & tires on the rear junk. The man wanted 200.00 for it. I said it's worth more than that, I offered him 450.00. He then said for that prices I can have the plow's, disc, cultivators, snow plow , mowing machine , and a Weeder. He threw in the 3pth kit & a Central Tractor back 6'blade, plus 2 sets of tire chains, one for the road & one set for the field. I didn't argue with him. I then picked up a SP 100 A/C combine for the tires. I paid 200.00 for, sold the engine off the combine 150.00 , hydraulic pump 40.00, gas tank 40.00, I got 75.00 for the large radiator. I then scrapped what was left when scrap was high & received a check for 685.00 had to use the Combine wheels since the J/D rims were w