

Clash Royale: Top 10 Most Annoying Emotes

Clash Royale has definitely a huge amount of Emotes, counting more than 100. However, some of them are extremely annoying, especially when your opponent uses them continuously. If you have ever wondered which are the top 10 Clash Royale Most Annoying Emotes, you should definitely read this article. Furthermore, please keep in mind that this list shouldn't be taken too seriously.

1. The Screaming Hog

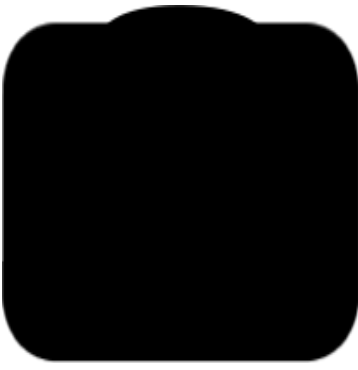

This particular emote is one of the most common in the game. This is a perfect emote for spammers due to the hog screaming at such a high pitched sound. Though you may not see this often nowadays, it was very popular when it was released. Despite one might hate it at first, after using it for a while it is very fun to use.

2. Electro Wizard Laugh

There's definitely not much to say about The ElectroWiz's obnoxious laugh. Consequently, every time you see this emote, you feel the urge to mute your opponent. Spamming it is a low blow for your adversary since the laugh is especially annoying.

3. Goblin Laugh

Being just a bit less tedious than the Ewiz laugh, here's the Goblin Laugh. His little green laughter is indeed one of the first emotes of the game. If you feel like mocking your opponent mistakes, he's undoubtedly your mate.

4. Chicken's Clucking

You can easily obtain this exclusive emote by creating your supercell id. Consequently, everyone can remember that when it was released, the clan chats were flooded. Despite this, it is a very fun emote. If you feel like annoying your opponent, this emote is a particularly great pick.

5. Screaming Bandit

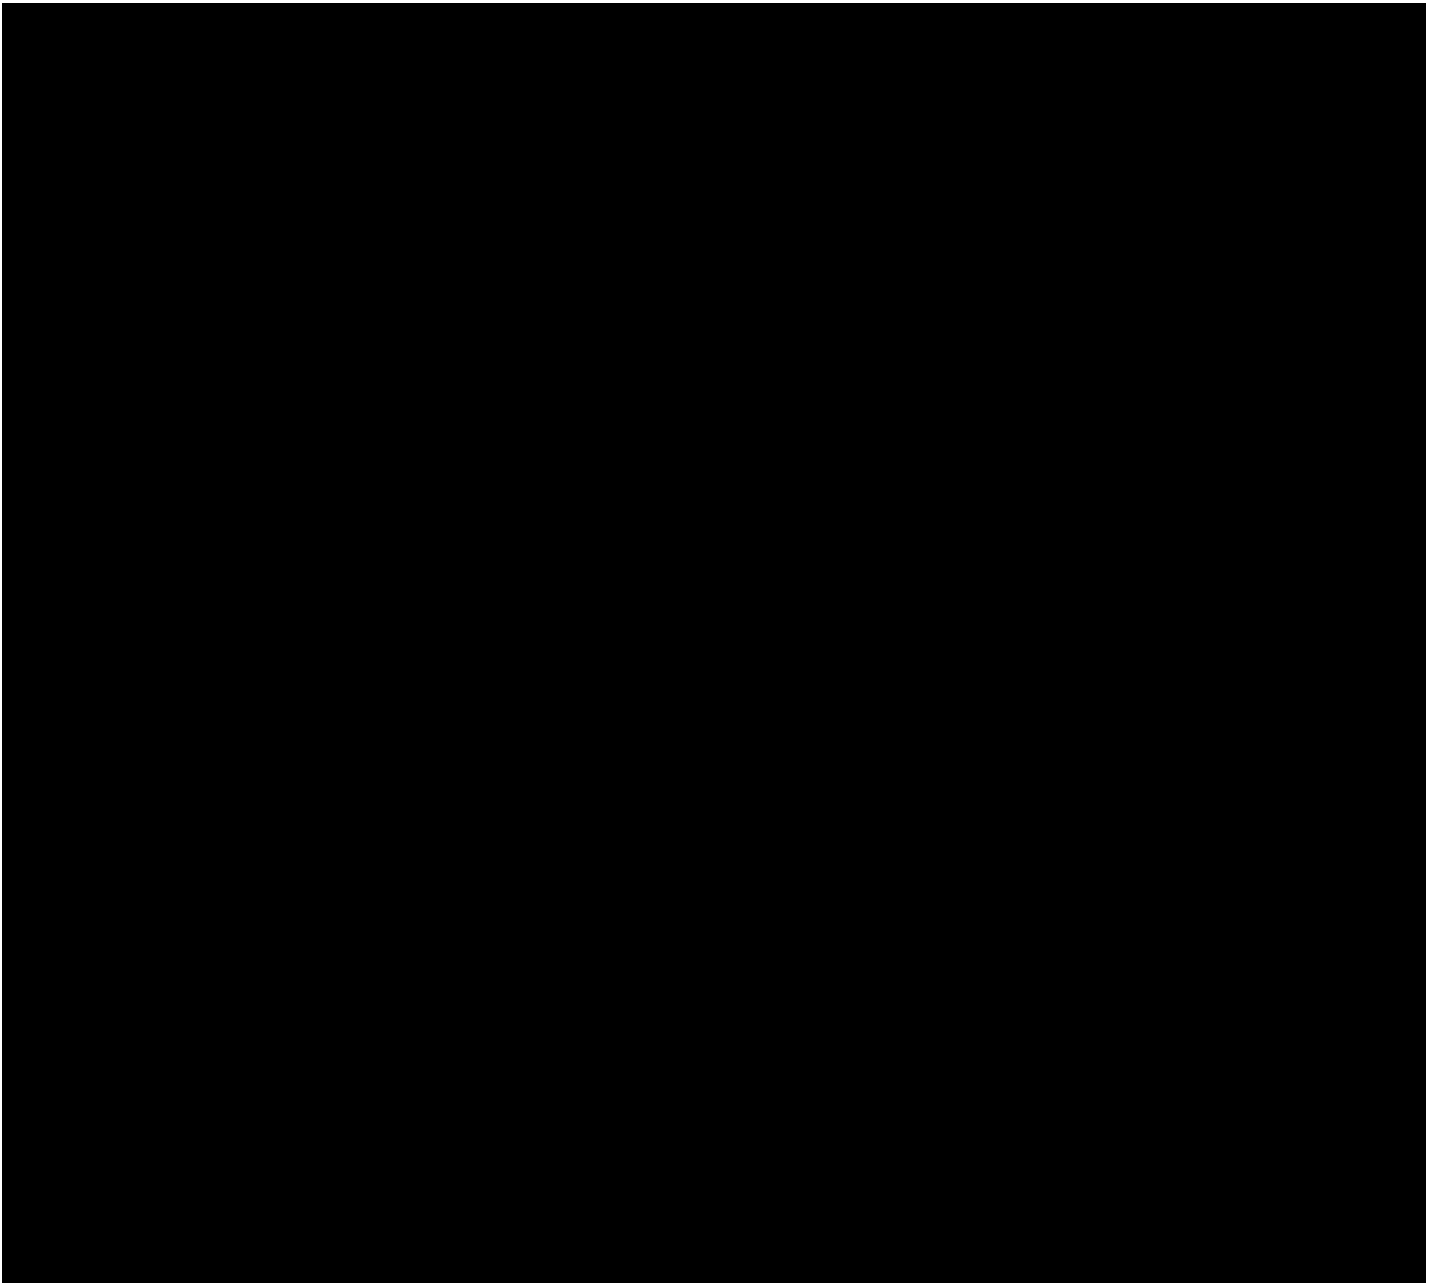

This emote was one of the 3 prizes awarded to spectators of the 2018 Clash Royale world finals live on YouTube. Her nasty scream makes it unquestionably a good emote to irritate your opponents. Love or hate her, she's indeed fun to use.

6. Burning Goblin

Born from an Internet meme, the burning goblin is particularly one of my favorite. It is not that offensive thanks to the wide variety of situations it fits. The opponent misplayed? Use this emote. You outplayed your opponent hard? Go Ahead. You got outplayed hard? Show your feelings with it.

7. Screaming Royal Hog

Slightly similar to the hog screaming emote but with a lesser pitch, here's an adorable screaming piglet. He's cute, funny and moreover has good spam potential. He's definitely a must if you feel like mocking in an adorable way.

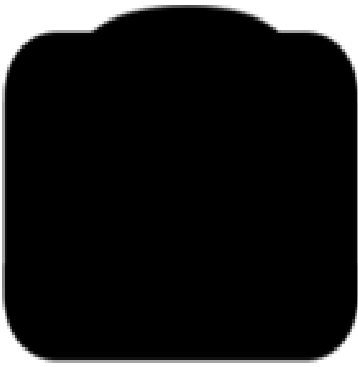

Read – Clash Royale Tiebreaker: Tips and Strategies

8. Roaring Barbarian

Nothing embodies the title Clash Royale most annoying emotes as this emote. The deep and loud roar makes this barbarian particularly irritating. If your opponent starts to use this emote repeatedly, you may certainly want to mute him for some peace of mind.

9. Crying Skeleton

The Crying Skeleton is importantly one of the most annoying emotes ever created. The combination of high pitch sound and tearful eyes makes it my personal favorite choice for annoyance purpose. Beware of this emote, it's unforgiving!

10. Dabbing Wizard

Last but not least, here's a mocking Dabbing Wizard. He definitely makes the opponent enraged, especially after winning battles.

What is the most toxic emote in fortnite?

'take the L' is one of the first emotes that has been considered toxic in Fortnite. The character puts an L on their forehead, calling the other player a loser, and dances wildly by kicking their legs about. This is the emote that has caused players to flip out more than anything.

What's the rarest Clash Royale emote?

– King Champion of the Tournament

What are the top 10 rarest emotes in fortnite?

– Fandangle. – Glyphic. Rarest Emotes in Fortnite. – Hootenanny. Rarest Emotes in Fortnite. – Lazy Shuffle. Rarest Emotes in Fortnite. – Rambunctious. Rarest Emotes in Fortnite. – Resistance Thumbs Up. Rarest Emotes in Fortnite. – Spyglass. Rarest Emotes in Fortnite. – Tidy. Rarest Emotes in Fortnite.