Omaha Palace

Excellent app for Omaha junkies ! Especially if you're looking for a no limit variation. Definitely worth checking out and the more you play the more you are rewarded.

Thanks, we're glad to hear that :)

Dee

I downloaded this game to learn Omaha hi low ( I play texas holdum and win a lot) but even at the lowest level game you have people who bet the whole amount they have every time so it moves so fast you only have time to look briefly at their hand and you never win because even if you think you have a good hand you don't want to bet every dollar you have( tried that and never won even when I thought I had great hands). So you fold and even tho you may have a winning hand at the end, not willing to take the risk So I am giving up on this game. Too discouraging to lose every hand ( except for an occasional $29-50 dollar hand) The one good thing is the game tells you what you have in your hand because unlike texas holdum sometimes you forget you can only use 2 cards in your hand. Good luck to anyone who does decide to download this game- you'll need it

One huge flaw here

This is a well-designed app. Everything runs smoothly. So why only one star from me? Too many players go all-in every hand. There's usually one at every table. Then I'm not playing poker. I'm playing bingo.

This app desperately needs a pot-limit table option. Then it would be a five-star app for sure.

On edit: I've played quite a few more hands. And it's the same as before. Most tables have at least one player who ALWAYS bets high or goes all-in with junk. No disrespect meant to the developer, but this is not poker. This is bingo.
